

Neotropical Birding

BIRDING MAGAZINE OF THE NEOTROPICAL BIRD CLUB • NUMBER 23 • AUTUMN 2018

EDITORIAL

- 2 Welcome to Neotropical Birding 23
JAMES LOWEN

BIRDING AT THE CUTTING EDGE

- 3 The ultimate trek? Seeing Blue-bearded
Helmetcrest in Colombia
STEPHAN LORENZ

FEATURE

- 13 The flamingos, the fable and the fair
JAMES LOWEN

GLOBALLY THREATENED BIRD

- 14 Sympathy for the grebes:
Hooded Grebe conservation programme update (2011–2017)
IGNACIO ROESLER, LAURA FASOLA AND
PATRICK BUCHANAN

FEATURE

- 25 New eyes on the Neotropics
JOSH JONES

BIRDING SITE

- 33 Seeing Cuba's endemic birds and other
specialities
CHRISTOPHER SHARPE

NEW BOOK

- 47 New bird species from the Neotropics:
50 years of discovery
DAVID BREWER

SPLITS LUMPS AND SHUFFLES

- 55 Splits, lumps and shuffles
THOMAS S. SCHULENBERG

GLOBALLY THREATENED BIRD

- 61 Last call for the Peruvian Plantcutter
JEREMY FLANAGAN

FEATURE

- 68 An overview of bird records
committees in the Neotropics
JUAN FREILE, ALEJANDRO SOLANO UGALDE, MARTYN
KENEFICK, ALEXANDER LEES, VÍTOR PIACENTINI,
LUIS SANDOVAL, THOMAS VALQUI, FERNANDO
ANGULO-PRATOLONGO, JHONATHAN MIRANDA,
OLIVIER CLAESSENS AND CHRISTOPHER SHARPE

CLUB NOTICEBOARD

- 76 Club Noticeboard
CHRIS BALCHIN

FRONT COVER

Male Araripe Manakin Antilophia bokermanni rain-bathing at Arajara Park, Juazeiro do Norte, Ceará, Brazil, on 1 December 2016 (Rob Hutchinson/Birdtour Asia). One of many new Neotropical species to feature in David Brewer's article (page 47–54).

Left: Cuban Tody Todus multicolor, Topes de Collantes, Sancti Spiritus, Cuba, July 2017 (David Southall/tropicalbirdphotos.com).